A Note from Ms. Samaan:

Happy Labor Day! I cannot believe we have already completed 2 weeks of school! This week we focused a lot on Literacy Studio and Math Workshop! We were able to get our minds thinking about writing and even spent some time in the courtyard working on our writing! Looking forward to this week!

What We Did This Week:

Literacy Studio:

During reading, we practiced the the different parts of Literacy Studio including reading to self & someone, as well as working on writing. We did some research on the computers about things that were of interest to us, and even added some writing to our word wall!

Math Workshop:

This week we worked started math workshop. Our 1st unit focuses on place value concepts including how to count, read, and write numbers to 10,000. We used base-ten blocks to develop the association between the physical representation of the number, the number symbol, and the number word.

Writing:

This week we created heart maps and favorite lists to help us generate ideas when writing. We even enjoyed a beautiful day in the courtyard and worked on our writing.

Social Studies/ Science:

This week we started our first unit in Social Studies: Geography. We identified our geographic place in the world from a small to larger scale: town, state, country, continent, planet.
